

Commonly Confused Words

Affect- verb. to have an influence on. “The rain will affect whether recess can be outside.”

Effect- noun. a result, something caused by an action. “The effect of rain is that recess will be inside.”

All right- adjective. 1. acceptable or in satisfactory condition. “The bike looked small, but it was all right for Lucy.” “all right” is used in more formal, edited writing. adjective. 2. To be okay. “Chris fell down the stairs, but he was all right.” adjective. 3. Correct. “The newspaper is not always all right.” Not “alright”

Alright- adverb. a one-word spelling of the phrase “all right.” “Alright” alright is a common spelling in written dialogue and in other types of informal writing. “Alright, we can go to the movies” our mom conceded.

All ready- adjective. fully prepared. “When we were all ready, we left for the movies.”

Already- adverb. by this time or another specific time. “The movie had already started by the time we sat down.”

All together- adverb. all at the same time. “Everyone has to pay attention if we are going to sing all together.”

Altogether- adverb. completely, entirely. “That lie is altogether not true.”

Aid- verb. 1. To help or assist. “Jack aids the students who need extra help when he is finished with his work.” noun. 2. Something that is of help or assistance. “Posters and charts can be very helpful visual aids.”

Aide- noun. A person who acts as an assistant. “The new aide brings a lot of knowledge to the classroom and is very helpful.”

Among- preposition. 1. In company with, or in the class of. “Most people are happiest when they are among friends.” “Spanish is among my favorite classes.” preposition. 2. Through all or most of. “There is a lot of complaining among the students about getting too much homework.”

Between- preposition. 1. From one to the other of. “Julius flies between New York and California to visit both of his parents.” preposition. 2. Joining or linking. “There is a special connection between twins.” preposition. 3. By the common action of, taking the combined effect of. “The boys ate a whole pizza between them.” “Between the new baby and work, James’ mother has little time for him.” adverb. 4. In an interval space. “The soccer field is between the school and the playground.”

Ascent- noun. The act of climbing up. “The slippery ice made the walk up the hill seem like an impossible ascent.”

Assent- verb. To agree to something, give approval. “Many cultures require children to get their parents’ assent before marrying.”

Commonly Confused Words

Belie- verb. To give a false idea of. “Jackie’s tall height *belie*s her young age.”

Besides- preposition. Except for, or in addition to. “Neil likes all desserts, besides ones that are nutty.” “Thom is a good student and holds a job besides.”

Break- verb. 1. to separate, detach, or smash. “The class will break into small groups after lunch.” “The neighbor will be angry if the boys break his window again with the ball.” noun. 2. a separation or crack. “The dog escaped through the break in the fence.” noun. 3. an interruption. “When everyone finished their work, we took a break for lunch.” noun. 4. The beginning of the morning. “Many people get up at the break of dawn, rising with the sun.”

Brake- noun. 1. a thing that stops or slows action and movement. “Cars need good brakes to be safe.” verb. 2. to slow down or stop action and movement. “Leslie braked when a cat crossed in front of the car.”

Capital- noun. 1. a town or city that is the official center of a government. “Every state has a capital. Washington, D.C. is our nation’s capital.” noun. 2. wealth or value. “The girls used the capital from their allowance to start a lemonade stand.”

Capitol- noun. the building where government meets. “The capitol has a big, round dome and is very beautiful.”

Choose- verb. to decide on and pick out. “Manny gets to choose what he wants for lunch today. He chooses pizza.”

Chose- verb, past tense. To have decided on and picked out. “Lola chose to stay home when her sisters went to the park.”

Coarse- adjective 1. rough, or of low quality. “Coarse cloth makes itchy britches.” Adjective 2. common, vulgar, not refined. “Swearing and other coarse language is not appropriate.”

Course- noun. 1. progress or movement in a particular direction. “The course of the detective’s investigation took him straight to the villain.” noun. 2. the path toward a particular direction. “The honors student was on a course toward success.” “Using a map can help you stay on course.” noun (phrase). 3. “of course”—naturally, without doubt.

Complement- noun. 1. something that completes or makes whole. “Vanilla ice cream is the perfect complement to apple pie in apple pie a la mode.” Verb. 2. to complete or make another thing whole. “Vanilla ice cream complements apple pie.”

Compliment- noun. 1. an expression of praise, appreciation, or congratulation. “Julia received many compliments on her new haircut.” verb. 2. to praise, admire, or congratulate. “Jon complimented Bruce on his home run.”

Commonly Confused Words

Counsel- noun. 1. advice or guidance. "I always use my mom's counsel when I do not know what to do." noun. 2. the act of exchanging ideas and opinions. "The knights held counsel to decide what to do with the dragon." verb. 3. to give advice to. "The teacher counsels his students about writing papers."

Council- noun. a group of people who meet to discuss and make decisions. "The town council agreed to build a playground in the neighborhood."

Dependent- adjective 1. relying on someone or something else for aid, support, etc. adjective. 2. conditioned or determined by something else; contingent: Our trip's success is dependent upon the weather.

Dependant- noun. a person who depends on another person, organization, etc., for support, aid, or sustenance, especially financial support. His daughter is his only dependant.

Desert- noun. 1. an arid, dry body of land. "The desert is very hot during the day and freezing at night, making it a dangerous place to travel." verb 2. to leave empty or alone, abandon. "Although Paul was exhausted, he never deserted his post to go to bed."

Dessert- noun. a usually sweet course that generally comes after the main part of a meal. "There is rice pudding for dessert if you finish all of your dinner."

Elicit- verb. To draw out. "Part of a teacher's role is to elicit answers from her students."

Illicit- adjective. Illegal. "One can get in a lot of trouble for illicit activities."

Fewer- adjective. Not so many, a smaller number of. "There are fewer birds returning every year because of the decrease in their habitats."

Less- adjective. Not so much, being a smaller amount. "There is less food and protection for wild animals as forests are cut down and built on."

Imply- verb. To express indirectly, to suggest rather than say plainly. "Joe's frown implied that he was unhappy, but he would not say a thing."

Infer- verb. To arrive at a conclusion. "Joe's friends inferred that he wanted to be left alone from his grumpy attitude."

It's- contraction. It is or it has. "It's too bad that Jill is sick." "It's been a while since Jack went away."

Its- possessive pronoun. Of or belonging to it. "The dog does not know that it is its own tail that it is chasing."

Commonly Confused Words

Loose- adjective. Not tight-fitting or attached tightly. “The collar was too loose for the dog, so it was able to get out of it and run away.”

Lose- verb. 1. To fail to keep or find. “It is very frustrating to lose things.” verb. 2. To be deprived of. “As a result of her lies, Karen lost her parents’ trust.”

Principal- noun. 1. a leading or important person. “The school principal inspires the students to achieve their best.” adjective. 2. most important. “The show almost did not go on when the principal actor was sick.”

Principle- noun. 1. a general or basic truth, on which other truths or theories can be based. “Scientific theories are based on principles of testing and evidence.” noun. 2. a rule of conduct. “Cheating is against common principles of trust and honesty.” noun. 3. a rule or law of nature. “The principle of gravity explains a lot about our world.”

Precede- verb. To come before. “Learning to walk precedes the ability to run.”

Proceed- verb. To carry on an action, process, or movement. “In spite of the setbacks, they proceeded with the original plan.”

Sight- noun. 1. something that is seen. “The lights and decorations for the festival made our street a sight to be seen.” noun. 2. the act, process, or capacity for seeing. “As people age, many lose their sharpness of sight.” verb. 3. to get or catch a view of. “When Paul Revere sighted the British army coming, he sounded an alarm.”

Site- noun. 1. a place or scene of an occurrence. “The construction site was noisy and dusty.” noun. 2. a local position of a building, monument, etc. “It took months for the committee to decide on a site for the new town center.”

Cite- verb. to quote (a passage, book, author, etc.), especially as an authority: Nancy will cite the Constitution in her argument.

Stationary- adjective. 1. fixed in one place, unable to be moved. “No matter how fast he pedaled, Steve couldn’t make the stationary bike go anywhere.” adjective. 2. unchanging. “

Stationery- noun. materials for writing. “Sue’s stationery set has pretty matching paper and envelopes.”

Their- adjective. relating to or belonging to “them”. “Their presentation was exciting to watch because of the group’s enthusiasm.”

There- adverb. 1. in or at that place, to or into that place, etc. “Carl wants to go to the beach next summer, because his friends will be there.” adverb. 2. At that point or stage. “Stop right there— I think you have said enough.”

They’re- contraction. They are. “They’re on a winning streak.” “They’re having a surprise party for their friend.”

Who’s- contraction. Who is. “Who’s going to the movies tonight?”

Whose- adjective/possessive pronoun. Of or belonging to a person. “Jill had to take care of Jack, whose crown was broken from the fall.” “Whose jacket is still in the closet?”

Commonly Confused Words

Your- adjective/possessive pronoun. Of or belonging to “you.” “I found your shoes under the table.”

You’re- contraction. You are. “You’re a great friend.”

Yours- possessive pronoun. refers to something that belongs to you. “I found these shoes under the table. Are they yours?”

British/Australian English spellings:

Practice- noun – usual manner of doing something. Office practice is to dress in collared shirts.

Practise- verb – to carry out, follow etc. She practised good etiquette when she sent the thank you note.